Professional Profile

I joined the Home Office register as a Consultant Forensic Pathologist in November 2015. I perform both adult and joint paediatric post-mortems in suspicious and non-suspicious deaths in order to ascertain cause of death and interpret injury patterns. I attend crime scenes when required. I regularly give evidence in Crown and Coroner’s courts as an expert witness. I also perform detailed reports for injury opinions and perform defence case work.

I am a member of the British Association in Forensic Medicine. I also lecture on forensic pathology at academic institutions.

Academic Qualifications

Bachelor of Science (Biomedical Sciences), University of London	2002
Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery (MBBS), University of London	2005
Diploma in Forensic Medical Sciences, Society of Apothecaries, London	2009
Fellow of the Royal College of Pathologists	2014
Diploma in Medical Jurisprudence in Pathology, Society of Apothecaries, London	2015

Forensic Pathology Career

Following my hospital foundation training (2005-2007) in medicine, surgery and acute medicine, I spent four years in clinical medicine including core medical training. I then spent three-and-a-half years training in general histopathology in the South West of England and this was followed by three years sub-specialist training in forensic pathology at the State Pathologists’ Department, Belfast, Northern Ireland under the supervision of four consultant forensic pathologists.

I was accepted onto the Home Office Register in November 2015, when I became an Associate with Forensic Pathology Services.

Key Achievements and Contributions

- Forensic Pathology representative for the Trainees Advisory Committee (TAC) and Trainee representative for the Forensic Pathology Sub-Committee, Royal College of Pathologists.
